SENSATIONAL TRIAL BEGINS IH VIRGINIA

Former Judge Loving to Answer For Killing of Estes.

GREAT INTEREST IN RESULT

Every Device Known to Legal Fraternity Will Be Availed by Counsel in Their Effort to Acquit W. G. Loving.

Houston, Va., June 25.—The trial of former Judge W. G. Loving, of Nelson county, for the murder of Theodore Estes, son of Sheriff M. K. Estes, of Nelson county, began in the circuit court here Monday. Judge William R. Barksdale presided. Both the prosecution and the defense announce their readiness for the trial.

The trial promises to eclipse in interest the sensation the MacCue and the Strothers-Bywaters case in Culpepper. It will put to test again the much-talked-of "unwritten law."

Judge Loving, armed with a double barreled shotgun, instantly killed Estes while he was unloading a car of fertilizer in Oakridge, on April 22. The shooting was the sequel to a buggy ride taken on the evening prior to the homicide by Young Estes and Miss Elizabeth Loving, the 19-year-old daughter of Judge Loving. The girl, when brought home, was drinking, and it was alleged that her escort had been maltreating her. Acting under the impulse that his daughter had been drugged and assaulted, Judge Loving immediately went in search of Estes. After the shooting he said:

"I shot to kill. Every drop of blood in my body called for vengeance. I would have gone a hundred miles to kill him."

Backed by the millions of Thomas F. Ryan, whose Virginia estate he has been overseer for a number of years, and with powerful political influence, every device known to the legal fraternity will be availed of in the efforts of the council for the defense to acquit Judge Loving.

The plea of the defense will be emotional insanity and the "unwritten law."

The relatives of Young Estes, whose family connections extend to the governor of this state, will exert every effort to clear the memory of the dead man from any wrong doing.

Miss Loving, who has lived in seclusion since the tragedy, appeared in public Sunday for the first time.

STRIKE OF TELEGRAPHERS.

Unless Strikers Return at Once, Will Be Regarded as Discharged.

San Francisco, June 25.—No word indicating an early settlement with the local telegraphers' strike came from the New York headquarters of the Western Union and Postal companies Sunday.

Officials of both companies in this city say they have been instructed to have no dealings with the Telegraphers' union looking toward a settlement, but that former employes will be received as individuals.

Unless the striking operators of the Postal company here and in Oakland return to work immediately, the company says they will be looked on as discharged employees and their places will be considered filled, according to the orders which have been received from First Vice President and General Manager Nally, of New York.

COMMITTED CRIME IN SLEEP

Italian Who Ran Amuck on Train Now Declares that He Was Dreaming.

Goodland, Kans., June 25.—John Bello, the Italian who killed a man and wounded two women passengers on a Rock Island train east of here Saturday night, told of the shooting. Bello asserted that he committed the murder in his sleep, as the result of a dream. His story follows:

"My wife and children and Patsy Legranbradi and his wife and children lived in Genoa. We decided to come to the New World and grow rich, as we heard it was easy to do. We landed in Boston a few days ago and took a train for the west.

"We were in a strange land among people whose language we could not understand. I had been nervous from the time I left home. Saturday night I went to sleep in my seat and had a terrible dream. I dreamed that a man with a white handkerchief over his face had me by the throat and was trying to rob me.

"I fought with all my strength. Finally I managed to throw my assailant off. The robber turned to run. I had a revolver in my pocekt and I seized it and began to shoot.

"All of this was in my sleep. The report of the weapon awakened me and I found myself on my feet with the pistol in my hands, shooting right and left. God knows I did not mean to kill any one. It was a terrible dream."

Carl V. Topp, the tailor who was killed by the Italian, was almost asleep in his seat with a white handkerchief over his face.

Bello is in the county jail here. He sits rocking to and fro with his face in his hands, muttering in Italian.

COTTON CROP IMPROVES.

Material Advancement Was Made During the Past Week.

Memphis, Tenn., June 25.—The Commercial Appeal prints the following summary of crop conditions compiled from reports received from their special correspondents throughout the cotton belt:

The cotton crop has made material advancement during the week. An important step forward has been made in cultivation and, excepting a few scattering localities, the crop is clean and in an excellent state of cultivation for the season. An exception to this is the state of Oklahoma, where rains during the week kept labor from the fields.

Correspondents note that the plant, though still quite small, is healthy and in a condition to respond well to favorable future conditions, should such occur. The crop is still two to four weeks late, however, according to locality, and in many sections of the central and eastern cotton belt the conditions have not been remedied. The older planted cotton in the southern districts is fruiting, blooms are reported from several of these sections and in other places the stalk is taking on bolls.

In Texas and western Louisiana boll weevil are reported, but they have as yet done little damage.

Destination Kept Secret.

Baires, France, June 25.—The mutinuos soldiers of the Seventeenth infantry have been transferred from Agde without notice. Three other regiments quietly marched into that town Monday, surrounding the barracks and escorted the mutineers of the Seventeenth infantry to a train in which they were locked. A large number of the mutineers came from Baires Sunday without permission, and were arrested on their return. The destination of the mutineers is kept secret, but is believed to be Briancon, in the department of Hautes Alpes, far from the scene of their insubordination.

Fifteen People Hurt.

New York, June 25.—Fifteen persons were injured, three it is believed fatally, when a trolley car collided with a reinsuance patrol wagon in Brooklyn late Saturday night. The wagon was turned over on the sidewalk and all of its crew injured. Three passengers were also hurt. M. Robert Baxter and John Salm were taken to the hospital in a dying condition.

BODY OF KIDNAPED BOY FOUND IN SWAMP

Failing to Get $6,000 Ransom, Child Was Murdered.

THE CITY IS GREATLY EXCITED

After Searching for Days, Police, by the Aid of Bloodhounds, Find the Headless Body of Walter Lamana in Swamp Near the City.

New Orleans, La., June 25.—Two miles in the interior of a big swamp near this city the headless body of Walter Lamana, an Italian child between 7 and 8 years of age, who was kidnaped and held for $6,000 ransom two weeks ago, was found by police and viligantes just before daybreak Sunday. He had been strangled to death, according to the confession of one of the several Italians held by the police.

The boy's neck is cupposed to have been broken when he was strangled, causing the head to become separated from the body when decomposition set in. The head was found a short distance from the body.

Armed Deputies on Guard.

Five Italians, two of them women, are under arrest charged as accomplices to the murder, and extra details of police and deputies are maintaining order in the excited Italian quarter of the city.

Seventy armed deputies have been placed on guard at the Orleans parish prison, the strongest in the state, where three of the prisoners are held, and some apprehension has been felt over the safety of two other prisoners who have been taken to an adjoining parish.

Seldom since the mafia lynchings, sixteen years ago, has New Orleans been so stirred with threats of violence as now, and some of these threats are made by those who participated in the disorders at that time. The law and order element is much stronger than it has been heretofore. A large number of leading citizens of all nationalities and the city's leading commercial leaders have pledged themselves to prevent violence.

The murdered boy was found near St. Rose about 20 miles from New Orleans, in a territory which has been well searched with bloodhounds in the past few days. When the dogs failed to locate the boy a "third degree" sweating process wrung a confession from one of the suspects, who was taken from his home in St. Rose and carried into the woods by a combined force of vigilantes and officials, who have had the search in charge. This man, Ignazio Campigciano, was kept in the woods an hour when he confessed, charging four Italians with the murder. He said that about the time of a mass meeting in New Orleans more than a week ago, held for the purpose of prosecuting a search for the boy, these men, who were in a vacant cabin in St. Rose, became frightened, and consulted about what to do with the child. The boy was crying and begging to be taken home to his parents, said Campigciano, and one of the quartet of kidnapers grabbed the child and strangled him to death to stop his noise.

Later two of the kidnapers, he said, came to him carrying the boy in a blanket, and after threatening him with death if he told, took the body into the swamp.

Kaiser In Submarine Boat.

Berlin, June 25.—A report is in circulation here that Emperor William during the secret naval maneuvers on last Friday, took a plunge in one of the submarine boats. His majesty, according to the story, was greatly pleased with the trip.

ANOTHER GRAFT CASE.

Louis Glass Is Next Man To Be Tried In 'Frisco.

San Francisco, June 25.—Louis Glass, vice president of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, will be the next man under grand jury indictment brought to trial in the graft cases.

Tuesday the work of empaneling a jury to try him on a charge of having bribed the supervisors began.

District Attorney Langdon made the announcement Sunday. Judge Lawler on Friday last set the case for trial on July 1. In Judge Lawler's court Monday argument was made by the opposing counsel in the case on the motion of the defense to set aside the indictments.

The fourteen supervisors that have confessed to having received bribes from the telephone company will be important witnesses in the Glass case and the trial of Glass will be interesting in that it will afford the first opportunity the supervisors will have had of confession in public.

In passing on the motion of counsel to set aside the indictments pending against him, Judge Lawler will also consider the testimony taken and the arguments to be presented as applying with equal force to the cases of the United Railways companies and Theodore V. Halsey, the outside manager of the telephone company.

DEBARRED FROM TEXAS.

Rigid Quarantine Against Persons Suffering from Tuberculosis.

Chicago, June 25.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Austin, Tex., says:

"All persons suffering from tuberculosis in an advanced state are to be debarred from entering Texas."

Dr. W. H. Brumby, state health officer, said Sunday night that within a few days he would issue a proclamation establishing a rigid quarantine against all persons afflicted with the disease in an acute degree. In doing this, he places tuberculosis in the same category as yellow fever and smallpox.

Mr. Brumby has just returned from a trip of investigation to points in southwest Texas, where he says he found many health seekers, who had just entered the state, suffering with tuberculosis.

Royal Salute Given Prince.

Victoria, B. C., June 25.—While a battery of field guns fired a royal salute of twenty-one guns Prince Fushimi, who ranks next to the emperor at the Japanese court, arrived here Sunday night on board the Princess Victoria. He was met by Governor Dunsmuir and members of the civil and provincial government, and a guard of honor from the local militia saluted the visitor and his suit. The city is profusely decorated and public buildings illuminated in honor of the Japanese prince. He is the guest of Governor Dunsmuir. On Tuesday he will start for Japan on board the British cruiser Monmouth.

Colony of Car Dwellers.

New York, June 25.—Discarded street cars given by the New York City Railway company are being used to construct a summer hotel for the working girls within ten miles of New York city. About twenty of these have been transported to the chosen spot and volunteer workmen from the ranks of the East Side settlement workers are putting them in shape for occupancy. Undertaken by two or three young women, the new plan is well under way and within two weeks it is expected there will be a fair sized colony of car dwellers.

Will Be Largest Vessel.

Kiel, June 25—The Hamburg-American line, through its managing director, Herr Ballin, this week gave an order to Harlan-Wolff, a firm at Belfast, for a 50,000 ton steamer. The vessel will be the largest vessel afloat, surpassing even the Lusitania and Mauritania.

No Order for Strike at El Paso.

San Francisco, June 25.—President Small, of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, Sunday night said that he had issued no orders for a strike at El Paso. "The next strike," President Small said, "will be at a larger center than El Paso."

EIGHT MEN KILLED; 35 HURT IN WRECK

Passenger Train Dashes Into Rear of Work Train.

OTHERS INJURED MAY DIE

Service Train Was Backing Into Hartford, Conn., When Passenger Train Crashed Into It—Responsibility for Accident Not Given.

Hartford, Conn., June 25.—Eight workmen were killed and 35 injured when a passenger train on the Highland division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad crashed into the rear of a work train that was backing into the city from New Brittain Sunday night at the Sigourney street crossing. Of the injured two probably will die.

Some of the victims within easy reach were dead and were left while the rescuers tried to extricate the living. In one instance it took an hour and a half to rescue one workman who was pinned between the trucks. His head was hanging down backwards and he suffered severely, but the rescuers encouraged him while doctors reached between the frame work which held him a prisoner and treated wounds on his face and head.

There are three unofficial versions of the cause of the wreck. One is that the passenger from New Britain went out on the wrong track. The second is that the work train had the right of way until 7 o'clock and should have had a clear track, and that the passenger train was ahead of time at that point. The third is that the work train opened a switch and failed to close it.

The engineer of the work train claims that he had the right of way, and his statements are borne out by orders on this train.

SENSATIONAL ACCUSATION.

Man Says Russian Government Paid Him to Commit Murder.

New York, June 25.—The Wahreil (The Truth), a Yiddish newspaper and the organ of the Russian revolutionists in this city, makes the sensational acusation which it backs up with fac simile copies of what purport to be official letters, that the Russian government as represented by certain of its ministers, brought about the murder of Yankel Taharnisk, a revolutionary leader on a steamer between Sweden and Antwerp last winter and sacrificed the lives of three other passengers who occupied the same cabin.

The paper declared that the murderer was Audrey Victorov, an employ of the government. He was paid 3,000 roubles and received the title of "citizen of honor" for his work, the paper says.

Louis E. Miller, editor of the Wahreil, announces that he is ready to show the originals of the letters of the officials, which he publishes, but will not disclose how he obtained them.

Tshernisk's body was found in his cabin when the steamer on which he had taken passage reached Antwerp. Three other persons who shared his cabin, were also dead, but after the occupant had disappeared.

The inquest developed that the men had been asphyxiated. The revolutionists say this was accomplished with gas which the assassin carried with him.

Motion To Set Aside Verdict.

Birmingham, Ala., June 25.—A motion has been made to set aside the remarkable verdict for $11,000 rendered in the city court against the Birmingham Railway, Light and Power company for the death of little Laura Schulen, who was run over and killed by a street car. The verdict was one of the largest on record for a similar occurrence.

TRAIN SMASHED A WAGON

Seaboard Train Backed Into E. E. Cannon's Team With Serious Results.

While backed up to the packing-house at the Seaboard Air Line station Monday, a team owned by E. E. Cannon, loaded with fertilizer, was backed into by a train of the Seaboard Air Line railroad, and was partially demolished, the wheels of the vehicle being completely wrecked.

It was an unfortunate thing at this stage of the game that the mules were not afraid of the train, for, in that event, they might have pulled away; but as it was the animals looked consoled by the fact that they were resting, and permitted the train to back on to the team, playing havoc and scattering fertilizer in every direction, besides the wrecking of the wagon.

Manager Cannon, who happened to be in the vicinity, smelt a "mouse" or something else from which fertilizers are made, and at once realized that there was something wrong. He found that he was correct as soon as he turned the corner of the building, for he found a small-sized wreck which looked anything but good to him.

At Micanopy he grew into manhood and engaged in the mercantile business, enjoying fine success. He finally retired from business, however, since which time he has been inactive commercially.

Deceased was keeper of record and seal of the Micanopy Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and the funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, the ceremonies being conducted under the K. of P. ritual, which is a beautiful and impressive service.

Deceased is survived by a wife and several children, to whom the sympathy of friends is extended.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. Dying Officer Shoots Negro.

Memphis, Tenn., June 25.—Constable J. H. Goad is dead and Isom Reed, a negro, is suffering from wounds which are considered fatal, as the result of a pistol duel Sunday between the constable and the negro. Reed, who, it is said, had been drinking, had taken possession of the home of a negro woman, and when Goad, at the request of the woman, was entering the building to effect his arrest, he was fired on by Reed and fatally wounded. After he had fallen, Goad emptied his pistol at his opponent, inflicting wounds which, it is believed, will result in the negro's death. The dead officer was found still gripping his pistol.

THE DAILY SUN, 10c A WEEK

BIG TIMES ARE EXPECTED AT ARCHER

The Glorious Fourth Will be Observed There in Proper Style.

FRANK CLARK TO BE THERE

The Celebration Will be Given Under The Auspices of the Woodmen, and the Biggest Time in the History of Archer is Anticipated.

The good people of Archer are determined not to permit the nation's birthday—the Glorious Fourth—to pass by unheeded, with the result that there will be "something doing" at Archer on that day, and it will be a day long to be remembered by those who attend, by reason of the fact that there will be a barbecue, lots of good things to eat, and some addresses that will make the blood of the average American turn warm, and his heart flutter with patriotic enthusiasm.

Frank Clark, our Congressman, will be there. At least, Congressman Clark has been invited, and has assured the committee that, as matters look now, he will have the pleasure of addressing the throng that day. This alone should be, and will be, a sufficient inducement to attract the people for miles around, to Archer on that day, and there is little doubt but that the progressive little town of Southwest Alachua will be crowded upon that occasion with more people than her municipal borders have ever entertained before.

Congressman Clark, in addressing the committee which extended the invitation, remarked that he felt honored that Archer should seek his presence on the Fourth. He saw but one obstacle in the way at present, but that was an important professional engagement which he might be summoned to fill just at this time. "I am not sure just when I will be called," he said. "It may be that my summons will come just at the time to interfere with my appointment, but I want to say that if it does not, you may depend upon me to be with you good people on the Fourth, and I will do my best to entertain you in my humble manner."

Congressman Clark's "humble manner" sticks well to the palates of the people who hear him, and the people of Archer and vicinity are hoping that he will not receive the expected summons at a time to interfere with his visit.

This celebration, while it will be public, will be given under the auspices of the Archer Lodge, Woodmen of the World, who have the arrangements in hand. It is proposed to have what the Woodmen term a big "log-rolling," at which there will be a barbecue and basket picnic, and speaking. Let those who do not care to work not misunderstand the term of "log-rolling." It does not mean that some fellow intends clearing up his field, hence there need be no reason for remaining away on that account. You may leave your canthook at home—but don't forget to pile into your wagon or buggy a well-filled basket.

This Archer celebration of the Fourth promises to be "the biggest thing ever," so hitch up your team, bring the "old lady" and children, and make it a glorious day, as Archer wants and Archer deserves.

WILHELMINA AT THE MAGUE.

Will Give an Audience to Delegates to Peace Conference.

The Hague, June 25.—Queen Wilhelmina arrived here privately Monday from Castle Loo and drove in a closed car to the royal palace, passing through the Hall of Knights. She will remain here only two days and will receive the delegates to the peace conference at the House in the Woods villa, situated about one and a half miles from the Hague. The international peace conference of 1899 met in this villa.

The third committee of the international peace conference met at 10 o'clock Monday morning in the Hall of Knights, behind closed doors.

General Horace Porter, Brigadier General George B. Davis, Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, W. I. Buchanan, and James Brown Scott were present.

White's Cream Vermifuge will clean out these worms in a mild, pleasant way. Once tried always used. Give it a trial. Price 25 cents. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

CYPRESS KNEES.

How They Are Formed—Trees' Curious Blunt Roots.

The cypress knee is a familiar object in all the lowland forests of the south, but there are thousands of northern people who have never seen them, and there are many southern people, too, who have not seen them till they stumbled over them some dark night. The knee is of solid wood, has no limbs or leaves, is anywhere from six inches to six feet in height, and its rounded top and flattened sides give it very much the shape of a human leg bent at the knee till thigh and calf are brought together; hence the appropriate name of "knee."

For a number of years I was curious as to what part the knees played in the life of a cypress tree, writes a correspondent of Forest and Stream, for they are part of its root system and do not grow independently. They were not sprouts, trying to grow into trees, for they never developed branches, and the final conclusion was that their only use was for people to stumble over. How and why such useless appendages to the tree were formed was a mystery until one day when drifting down a deep channel which had been washed through a cypress swamp the secret was exposed.

The earth had been washed away from the roots of some of the trees, and roots in all stages of growth were in sight. None of these roots was less than two and one-half inches thick and of uniform size clear to their tips or rather clear to their blunt ends, for there was no tip.

Nature intended these roots to grow in soft mud, and they were all right for that purpose, but when the blunt end of a root encountered something too hard to push through it bent or buckled in the line of least resistance, and this was generally toward the top of the ground, and the continuing growth of the root pushing the bend further upward made the bend closer, until finally the two arms of the bend were close together and they grew together, with one sheet of bark inclosing both.

STUDY YOUR HORSE.

If the Animal Has Mental Troubles, Try to Remedy Them.

To begin with, does your horse suffer from nostalgia or homesickness? Most horses do, and many really pine away and die from no other cause. We can at least, by making the poor creature thoroughly comfortable, do all in our power to "give his pain surcease" and to make him happy and contented, for than homesickness of the acute and chronic form men knows few more wearing ailments. Is your horse's disposition sociable or misanthropic? You don't know? Well, why not find out? Does it irritate him to have his yokemate or neighbors eating noisily and visibly while he does? Is privacy evidently his preference? Very well, then, by boards or zinc or tin or canvas shut off both sides of his stall at the head so that he may eat in peace and live the isolated life which he prefers.

If he lays back his ears or snaps at his neighbors or fidgets and kicks at the partitions, etc., he does not fancy company—at least at mealtimes—and he will be better, do better and (here the pocket comes in) keep more cheaply if you cater to his fancy. If, on the contrary, a "shy feeder," let him see others eat; even let him by a simple arrangement feed from the same manger as one of his neighbors, which is to be tied up short until Master Dainty has eaten all he will, when, upon allowing the neighbor to partake, the fastidious one will redouble his efforts to eat just to spite the late comer at the feast. The writer has used this plan with many poor feeders from race horses down and always with the best results.—F. M. Ware in Outing Magazine.

POISONED BY MISTAKE.

Frank T. Ryan, Pioneer Citizen of Atlanta, Is Dead.

Atlanta, June 25.—Frank T. Ryan arose early Sunday morning and going to his closet, where he was accustomed to keeping his medicine, took a dose out of the wrong bottle and his death resulted Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at his residence on Washington street.

It had been Mr. Ryan's custom for some time to keep his medicine in a particular place and to take some each morning before breakfast. It seems that his son, Paul Ryan, is engaged in the undertaking business, and a day or so ago brought home a bottle of embalming fluid and put it in his father's closet without the knowledge of Mr. Ryan.

Just as soon as Mr. Ryan swallowed the poison he knew that he had made a mistake and at once called to his family and urged them to summon a doctor. A physician was soon secured and until 3 o'clock the battle to save his life was fought, but despite all vigorous efforts Mr. Ryan died at that hour.

Mr. Ryan was one of the pioneer citizens of Atlanta.

On the way home they began drinking and a quarrel was started, which resulted in Holland's shooting Carroll twice, once through the head and once through the arm. All escaped, but the two latter were captured Sunday by the sheriff and immediately rushed to Lexington jail for safe keeping on account of the prevailing excitement.

Johnson, an ex-convict, treated his wife badly and in the presence of her two young children shot her when she threatened to leave him.

Albert Patrick, the lawyer, convicted of the murder of Millionaire William Marsh Rice, took a deep interest in Johnson when the two were confined together in the death house of the Sing Sing prison, and it was through advice given him that Johnson, by appeals to the courts, was able to stave off death up to this time.

The peach crop has fallen short on account of adverse conditions, but the fruit has been fine and the prices in proportion to the supply.

Dispatches from Spokane announce that the Northwest has urgent need of 40,000 laborers. This will at least be a hint to some of our population to avoid the Northwest.

Notwithstanding pessimistic rumors, it may be noted that the Czar has just succeeded in borrowing $50,000,000. This ought to insure the continuance of the Romanoff dynasty till the interest falls due at any rate.

This story by some energetic news faker about assassinating Vice-President Fairbanks would have read a good deal more circumstantially if the writer instead of arming the assassin with a bomb had provided him with a hot stove or an ice pick.

The cantaloupe season will soon be at a close, the most impressive indication being that this luscious fruit is now being peddled on the streets at a cent each. The growers have no complaint to make, despite the long drought, as the fruit has been good and the prices encouraging.

Why cannot Gainesville organize a baseball team? There is plenty of material here, and with the fame of the old Oak Halls, which for years held the championship of all Florida, it is a shame to let our sister cities outdo us in the matter of the national game. Let us organize and show our neighbors how to play ball, as we did in "the good old days."

The presence of so many of Florida's teachers in the city is certainly an honor, as their presence brings together a collection of refinement from every quarter of the State, and lends to the atmosphere an air of moral and educational influence which, by reason of social intercourse, is bound to prove enlightening and beneficial. Gainesville is indeed blessed with the educational and religious surroundings to be found in few cities, and it is no wonder that this community enjoys the distinction everywhere as being the moral city of Florida. This reputation alone is worth a great deal to any section, as it induces the better class of immigration.

It is to be regretted that the citizens of Gainesville could not get together in the matter of celebrating this great nation's birthday, the Fourth of July. It may be said, however, that it was more a lack of energy that a lack of patriotism, for nowhere can be found a more patriotic class of people as a whole. By way of parenthesis, however, The Sun desires to congratulate its friends, the good people of the rural districts, for their energy and patriotism in their determination to observe the day in an appropriate manner. At several points throughout the county elaborate preparations are being made, the program embracing barbecues, basket picnics, etc., at all of which prominent citizens are announced to deliver addresses. It might be well to suggest that those Gainesville people inclined hie themselves away to one of these functions, if they desire to spend the day pleasantly.

A PERPLEXING QUESTION.

The system of sewerage will soon be completed, as only a half-mile or so of pipe is to be laid, and only a few manholes to construct.

But this is the question:

"Where are we going to get the water to operate this system?"

This water proposition is already proving a serious one, and is going to prove more serious if this section is not blessed with abundant rain at a very early date, or the wells which are now being drilled at the waterworks do not flow sufficiently to supply the demand. As it is at present, and as it has been for the past six or eight months, there is hardly sufficient water in the supply to answer absolute domestic purposes, and half the time it is a matter of impossibility to secure water on the second floor of any building through an ordinary standard pipe.

It has not been two weeks since Superintendent of Waterworks Miller, through a public request in The Sun, urged upon the patrons of the waterworks to refrain from using water for sprinkling lawns, or for any other irrigation, as the supply was distressingly low. This has been caused, however, on account of the extreme and continued drought.

Now the question arises, what good will be derived from this sewerage system with the present supply of water?

Everybody realizes the great advantages derived from a modern system of sewerage, and nobody is objecting to the system we will have, because it is one of the most modern of the modern ages. It will be equipped with automatic flushes, which will require little attention, and will be in every way a good job, constructed in a manner in accordance with the contract; but it must be remembered that it requires a million gallons of water a day of twenty-four hours to keep the pipes flushed, whereas we are now credited with a supply of considerably less than that, and for domestic purposes only, and then the supply falls short of the demand.

It has been said, and it is natural to suppose, that this great sewerage system must be tested as to its efficiency before Contractor Beeman can secure his payment for same. It requires a whole lot of water to test the system as it should be tested, and as matters now stand it would look as though the waterworks plant would be compelled to shut off every consumer and "back up" for a week in order to accumulate the necessary supply for this test.

It is to be hoped that the City Council will provide for some adequate water supply before a great while, as it is a foregone conclusion that there will be no use installing the sewerage system until this supply is secured.

There is not a city of the same population in Florida, or anywhere else for that matter, that possesses as a rule as modern, up-to-date business houses and residences as Gainesville. The new Hill building, which will occupy the corner of West Main and East Liberty streets, will add another to the list of modern business blocks which would do credit to any city. The magnificent Graham building, just being completed, is another structure of which any community should feel proud. In all, Gainesville is a modern town, and many complimentary remarks are made by visitors here.

The Brownsville inquiry having been finished after six months of wearisome testimony, it is now up to some of the puzzle editors to tell what it all means.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contains Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smelling and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

The government of France has just appointed Dr. Harvey Wiley, chief chemist and food expert of the Department of Agriculture, on the board of inquiry into the wine rebellion in France. The wine rebellion seems like almost a farcical proposition from this side of the water, but to the French it is very serious. Dr. Wiley has been appointed on the board of inquiry principally because he is a member of the French Pure Food Society and has made a special study of French wines for export to the United States. His inquiries have not been very favorable to the French manufacturers, indicating that much of the falling off in the French foreign trade was due to the shameless adulteration of French export wines. This was the same state of affairs that was disclosed by Dr. Wiley's investigation of the Scotch whiskey trade. There were stringent laws at home for the making of pure whiskey, but the manufacturers were allowed to put up anything they wanted for selling to the United States. It would appear that in view of these experiences Dr. Wiley will not prove a very helpful witness for the French wine growers before the nations of the world, but at least he may be able to do something toward putting the French wine industry on a better and more honest footing.

It ought to be good news to all cities of any size that there is a fair prospect of the railroad smoke nuisance being abolished. The Geological Survey has been on the problem along with its other fuel investigations and has found that briquettes made of the slack coal from the mines mixed with a little coal tar will burn in a locomotive without smoke and really furnish more steam than ordinary coal. The reason that they have not been more generally used heretofore is that there has not been enough margin of profit in making briquettes. But since they furnish a good smokeless fuel, there is a fair probability that their use will be taken up by the railroads within the limits of large cities and thus a large part of the city smoke nuisance will be done away with.

It is announced that there will be a bitter fight in council over conferring the freedom of the city of Dublin on Richard Croker. The city of Dublin had better be careful. If the old man gets peverish, he may organize the opposition and shut off the city patronage.

SEA BATHING IN CUBA.

If You Are Tempted to Try It, Resist the Inclination.

If you should chance to visit Cuba, officially or otherwise, and should desire to go in sea bathing, remember the advice of the Englishman and—don't.

For sea bathing in Cuba, like the ways of the heathen Chinee, is peculiar. The natives probably go through it as a religious penance, as, considered in the light of a diversion, it is simply ghastly. Say you reside in Havana, and, attracted by the beautiful tints of the tropic sea, you desire its intimate saline refreshment. You will notice, as you drive along the Malecon, immediately below that fine sea wall some curious masonry construction like the ruins of cells, over which the waves dash and disport themselves. These are, in fact, the remains of former baths that before the Gringo came were used by the natives. You will further notice that there prevail along the Malecon drive odors not at all suggestive of Araby the Blest, and when you find upon closer investigation that the odors are not wholly removed from the fact that all the sewers of the city seem to empty into the sea just below the wall you acknowledge that this fine Malecon promenade has its drawbacks.

The banos, or baths, are out at Vedado, a suburb of Havana, and you are likely to enjoy the drive along by the coast some six miles. The fringes of Havana, as you leave the city proper, are shabby enough, but there's the sea to gladden the eyes, and you anticipate sporting in those bright blue waters with relish.

The first intimation you have of the baths is the apparition of a frame structure that looks like a grand stand. You enter this and purchase your ticket. Then the misery begins. After the usual preliminary process, similar to that prevalent in a watering place in the United States, you go forth, expecting to come upon a sandy beach. Instead, you tread painfully upon sharp rock, and the sight of the place where you are expected to bathe gives you the horrors. It is a cell cut in the rock, with an opening to the sea, through which the water swishes and regurgitates with the advancing and retreating waves. This cell, if you have nerve enough, you descend into by means of steps, taking care not to slip, for the rock is like soap owing to the action of the seaweed. The bottom of the cell is formed of the rough rock, while sharp flints are plentifully strewn about. Your feet are soon lacerated and bleeding.

Suddenly you feel something nip your leg like a pair of powerful tweezers. You put your hand to the afflicted part and find that it is a crab that has laid hold of you. You glance about in hopeless desperation and see that other crabs are coming forth, with laudable politeness, to welcome you to this aquatic bower of bliss. "What in thunder," you think, "is the idea in walling you up in this fashion? Is it a survival of Spanish cruelty?" Then, as your gaze wanders out to sea, you see a long grayish black body shoot swiftly past. The explanation of the walling in part of the transaction is explained by that long, swiftly moving body, for this coast is infested by man eating sharks, and bathing without the precaution of a wall in front of you, with an opening in it just large enough to fill the cell with water, would be likely to prove more gratifying to some hungry shark than to you. You have paid $2, Spanish money, for this delightful experience, but then you can enjoy it just as long as you please.—Washington Post.

Don't Get Excited.

History does not depend on accidents. The growth of the race is toward a definite goal. The rain at Waterloo made no history. Gettysburg was not a scratch. If fate drops a stitch here, she picks it up there. The thread goes on. The current of life moves. The individual plays his part—his little part—and sinks, but there is no hole in the stream when he goes under, whether he be president or plumber, king or carpenter, so don't get excited about your fate. Do the best you can, and, above all, be calm! —William Allen White in Emporia Gazette.

Harry or Nick.

Nicholas Biddle, who was once president of the United States bank, was annoyed by an old negro who persisted in hanging around the premises. One day Biddle inquired in a brusque voice:

"Well, sir, what is your name?"

"Harry, sir, ole Harry," said the other, grimacing and touching his battered headpiece.

"Old Harry?" said Biddle. "Why, that is the name they give to the devil, is it not?"

"Yes, sir; that's right," said the colored man—"sometimes 'old Harry' and sometimes 'old Nick.'"—St. Louis Republic.

Wanted a Decision.

"Get another doctor," demanded Mr. Gotrox, "to pass on my ailment."

"Are not four physicians sufficient?"

"Yes; but I don't want to risk no tie vote."—Washington Herald.

HOW BONNER WON SUCCESS

The career of Robert Bonner, the veteran publisher, furnishes a signal illustration of the value of persistent and sagacious advertising. When he began the publication of the paper whose phenomenal success brought him fame and fortune, he did not wait for the people to find out, slowly and gradually, the interesting features of his journal.

He forced his enterprise upon public attention by a systematic lavishness of expenditure for advertising which at that time was without precedent or parallel. Whole pages of daily newspapers were secured at high prices to blazon forth the merits of his undertaking.

From one end of the country to the other the names of Bonner and his Ledger were made familiar to the people by constant repetition.

Conservative publishers, jogging along in the ruts of old routine, prophesied bankruptcy and ruin for this unconventional innovator, but Bonner kept on spending a large share of his receipts in buying publicity, and those receipts increased with startling rapidity.

Every dollar disbursed in this way brought in more dollars until croakers were confounded and pessimists in this particular branch of business silenced by his tremendous success.

The lesson is one that is as well worth heeding today as it was forty years ago.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

EADING THE GLASS.

e and Construction of the Mercurial Barometer.

S VALUE ON BOARD SHIP.

e Significance of a Fall of the Glass aries Considerably According to atitude—Fluctuations of the Barometer in the Tropics.

ow's the glass? This is a question ch is asked daily by thousands of ple all over the world and frequentfor very trivial reasons. To the igator the fluctuations of the baeter are always of interest and not requently of great moment. Hence s customary in the navy to record reading at least every four hours in stormy weather at much shorter rvals. The style of barometer ich is supplied for use in the navy hat known to makers and physicists the "cistern" barometer. It consists a glass tube about thirty-three hes in length and about one-third h internal diameter.

ny one who has seen a barometer this type is aware that the glass e contains a column of mercury ching within a short distance of the , but it is not as plainly apparent to ordinary and uninstructed observer y this tall and narrow column thus ains in the tube. The two conditns essential to the construction of mercurial barometer are, first, that re shall be as perfect a vacuum as sible in the upper end of the tube, ich is closed, and, secondly, that the er end, which is open, shall be kept mersed in a basin or cistern of merry.

hese ends are accomplished in a mple fashion, first discovered by an lian scientist named Torricelli, as back as the year 1643. The tube is d perpendicular, with the closed end nward, and mercury is poured in til it is quite full. Then the finger is ced over the opening and the tube turned over, end for end; the open d is immersed in a cistern of mery, and the finger or stopper is reved. The mercury then sinks a ort distance in the tube, leaving a ace at the top which must obviously completely devoid of air. The pres-e which the atmosphere exerts upon surface of the mercury in the cisn maintains the column in the tube, d any variations in the air pressure ll be accompanied by a correspondrise or fall of the mercury in the be.

he cistern must, of course, be of the allest dimensions possible or the inrument would be too clumsy. In the rine barometer it consists of a cup out one and one-half inches in dieter. The necessary limitation of e cistern causes certain irregularities, ich, however, do not practically afct the efficiency of the instrument as weather glass, and in barometers ich are designed for more accurate adings the difficulty is overcome by ingenious device which there is not ace to describe here.

It should be noted that mercury is ed in the construction of barometers mply because it is by far the heaviest liquids. A barometer can be made ually well, for instance, with water, t this would entail having a tube arly forty feet in length, for when e mercury stands at thirty inches the ater barometer will stand at about irty-four feet, a cumbrous sort of inrument for the navigator to carry out with him.

The glass tube and cistern thus comed are attached to a wooden mountg or placed in a metal case, with enings to show the upper part of the be, and on the case a scale is cut owing inches and tenths and hunredths of an inch, or, in marking a ore accurate instrument, something e the two hundred and fiftieth part an inch. Barometers are usually ged from twenty-seven to thirty-one ches, this being the practical limit of e fluctuations due to weather, and, deed, when the glass gets down to enty-eight inches it is time to look out you.

The significance of a fall of the barometer, however, varies considerably cording to the latitude. In Great itain, says a writer in the Navy d Army, it has fallen perhaps half inch or more during the night, and et there may be no very alarming le of wind, but such a fall in the opics would be the signal for the vigator to prepare for a cyclone, the ctuations of the glass in these latides being usually confined to a slight d regular rise and fall at certain urs. In a recent cyclone in Japan e fall during one hour was threeaths and the rise during the next ur no less than six-tenths, or more an half an inch.

It is indeed with regard to these rric storms that the barometer is the utmost service to the navigator. he behavior of the glass, in conjuncn with the shifting of the wind, will dicate to the experienced seaman the sition of the dreaded vortex and the pproximate course upon which the ssel is traveling.

INK THAT NEVER DRIES.

Care Used In Handling Fine Etchings and Engravings.

"One of the first things we have to impress upon newcomers in this business," remarked a dealer in fine prints, "is to take the utmost care in handling prints for the simple reason that the ink used in printing engravings and etchings practically never dries. Of all the men whose works in this line we handle it can be safely said that on the prints of only two of them—Rembrandt and Durer—has the ink really dried. And you know it is a long time since they were alive. It has been our frequent experience to have prints fully 200 years old show signs that the ink still had some moisture in it, as we have learned to our cost in seeing them rubbed.

"An expert, whether he be a professional or amateur collector, can tell at a glance that a print has had another one pulled across it, for to his accustomed eyes the telltale marks of the ink having been drawn across a blank place on the paper are as clear as daylight. That is why we keep all of our prints in boxes that just fit them so that they must be lifted out squarely with no chance of their being dragged across the one below. It seems like a trifle. But it is just such trifles that make or mar the sale of a really fine print worth thousands of dollars."—New York Press.

Baseball Players and Foot Racers.

Louis J. Kruger, ex-champion long distance foot racer of Germany and Holland, writes, Oct. 27, 1901: "During my training of eight weeks' foot races at Salt Lake City, in April last, I used Ballard's Snow Liniment to my greatest satisfaction. Therefore, I highly recommend Snow Liniment to all who are troubled with sprains, bruises or rheumatism." 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Before the Days of Envelopes.

Ancient specimens of letters are shown in the Hof museum at Vienna. One is dated 1396. It consists of a large sheet of ribbed white paper folded in three. A band of paper was passed round the outside and through a slit in one edge, being then fastened with soft wax. A small piece of thin paper was laid on the wax and the seal pressed on the paper, not directly on the wax. A somewhat similar arrangement is found in a letter of the year 1446, which was written by the town counselor of Munich to the burgomaster of Rastenburg, in the Tyrol, in order to obtain information concerning a man accused of bigamy. In the sixteenth century people in the Tyrol and Bavaria used bands of vellum or cords, fastened with wax. Later came separate round and oblong wafers. The use of the encircling band continued in Austria generally to 1750, or thereabout, and probably reached the last century among conservative people. The first envelope of the modern type in this collection belongs to the year 1715.

There Are Few

People who know how to take care of themselves—the majority do not. The liver is a most important organ in the body. V. C. Simpkins, Alba, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for Chills and Fever and find it the best medicine I ever used. I would not be without it. It is as good for children as it is for grown-up people, and I recommend it. It is fine for La Grippe." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Human Camels

So conveniently is the hump placed on the back of the camel for the disposition of the pack saddles that this has not unnaturally seemed a special design for the benefit of the nomadic Arab. It does not therefore seem to have struck people generally that this is the actual result of the use to which since, at any rate, 2000 B. C. the camel has been put by his Asiatic masters. The certainty of this is already apparent from the fact, familiar to any one who has traveled in the interior of Algeria, that the thoroughbred mehari, or saddle camel, which carries no burden heavier than a slim Arab dispatch bearer, is losing its hump. But the matter is put beyond all doubt by the intelligent researches of Professor Lombroso, the eminent Italian anthropologist, who identified similar callosities—miniature humps, in fact—upon the neck and shoulders of Hottentot and Malagasy porters, employed by their fellow men in work more appropriate to the hardier camel.—London Standard.

Tetter Cured.

A lady customer of ours had suffered with tetter for two or three years. It got so bad on her hands that she could not attend to her household duties. One box of Chamberlain's Salve cured her. Chamberlain's medicines give splendid satisfaction in this community.—M. H. Rodney & Co., Almond, Ala. Chamberlain's medicines are for sale by all druggists.
